A digital-savvy user may also like to know if the smart lock can be hacked, and what needs to be learned about it? Key takeaways: Go beyond homework done by manufacturers Coding is an essential feature of a digital smart lock. This lineament secures, tightening the main entrance of your home. That is why Kwikset and other digital brands are recommended by experts and even by locksmiths? Kwikset 99130-002 SmartCode But to make it genuinely impregnable, the functional codes hold the 'master key.' An exigency situation often triggers the need for a new deadbolt. A woman may need it to ensure that the ex-boyfriend/ abusive husband cannot access the kids or break into the house. Strangers and burglars often are a lesser target reason but are equally prime motives for consumers to opt for secure deadbolts. As thousands of Americans choose locks that can be opened with mobile apps, the advantages of digital padlocks are very apparent. There are no 'keys' to search for in crowded handbags. The door opens remotely with a chip or an app. With the convenience of multiple programmable codes, an entire family can enter with specific and personal encryption. This is why the Kwikset SmartCode 909 is one of the fastest-selling brands in the market. The brand manufacturer has researched the locking cylinder, which is the principal component of this device. The product offers variations of 4-digit and 8-digit encryption levels for multiple users. This brings us to coding that verifies and validates the entry of any person from the main door. All electronic locks can be programmed with a specific smart code. You need to learn the steps that can secure the encryption. Once it is clear, the buying process is simpler. How to change the code of Kwikset lock? It is important to learn how the codes can be changed for various family members, relatives, service staff, and friends. Changing the codes periodically ensures continuous safety. It also is useful if you have shared the code with someone else and need to reset it again. Each Kwikset electronic lock comes with an instruction manual. And this is what it looks like. Let's now understand step by step how we can change the codes. Image Courtesy: Official Website of Kwikset Step 1. Presuming that you have read the manual once for installation, the actual process of programming the lock begins with changing the factory-set codes. The product comes with some components which are required for the assembly. The security can be enhanced with various codes. Remove the two screws which comprise the inside part of the assembly without disturbing the device. Image Courtesy: Pinterest Step 2. The door should be open for processing the programming code. The 'lock' symbol should be pressed, which is indicated in the center of the keypad. A 4-digit or 8-digit code can be set. It should be something that you can remember easily, especially in an emergency situation. Image Courtesy: Official Website of Kwikset Step 3. Press the 'lock' key in the center. The 1st user can set up the 4-digit code. Press twice for entering the code for the second user. In the same manner, up to 4 different users can be added. Keep pressing the 'lock' button to register the users. Image Courtesy: Youtube Screenshot Step 4. The steps used for the 1st user can be repeated for the others as well in the same manner. Security codes can be created in any combination. Changing codes is essential when you share it with someone else too. Image Courtesy: Chainsaw Journal Step 5. Use the codes which have been set up to ensure that they are working. In case you wish to change the codes, use the above procedures again. Can a smart lock be hacked? Before you invest in the Kwikset lock or any other brand, it is imperative to be aware of hacking and breaking in. The knowledge will prepare you with dealing with home automation systems with a better perspective. These devices can be controlled using Bluetooth from a specific distance. The same can also be ruled by some malicious app miles away from the actual location or from the office desktop located in another area. The app is likely to let you know if the main door has been locked or unlocked in your absence. Some go even further; they make a log or register of entries to keep you updated. The latest devices have a crucial geofencing feature that surrounds the area of the house. All these factors will enable you to understand how hacking can be thwarted. If you are alert and realize that an intruder is opening the entrance, action can be taken at once. It also means that the coding has to be re-programmed. Frequently Asked Questions on How to Change Code on Kwikset lock? ImageCredit: If you have purchased the Kwikset locks, including the Kwikset SmartCode 909, you might want to know several things about its coding process and how to change code on Kwikset SmartCode 909. The following FAQs are useful in understanding the same. How to delete the single user code? Add another user code to override the existing one in the same position. For example, if the 2nd user code needs to be changed, in its position add the new code, which will override the older one. To be doubly sure, once the new one is added, use the old code to ascertain that it no longer works. PS: If there is a mix-up, you may switch back to factory settings and redo the coding afresh. It will remove all the codes. Why is the lock button not locking the door? Possible Reason 1: The keypad flashes red and beeps three times. It happens when the user codes are not programmed. You will need to add at least one user code for it to function. With the door handing process, it works. Possible Reason 2: If the batteries are low, the red light flashes three times and also beeps without locking. Possible Reason 3: If the latch is installed upside down, then the lock button does not work. If the clutch is disengaged, it will not function either. How to delete all user codes on your Kwikset SmartCode lock? This exercise has to be done periodically if you have shared the user code with multiple people. Enable the master code and follow these steps when the door is open. Press the program button once. The keypad flashes green and beeps three times. Press the lock button once Enter master code Press the lock button once Press 9 six times Press the lock button once Press 9 six times Press the lock button once If the keypad flashes green and beeps, then the process is successful. If it is red and beeps, then the procedure has to be repeated. A valid master code needs to be put once. While the door is open, press the lock button once. In case the latch bolt does not reach the lock, then all codes are deleted successfully. Enabling master code on the touchscreen: In 20 minutes, the screen time goes off. An 'X' pattern flashes three times. Restart the procedure with the door open. Press the program button and look for the checkmark symbol. Press the checkmark symbol once Enter new master code Press lock symbol once Re-enter master code Press lock symbol once If this works, the checkmark symbol is illuminated and will beep once. If not, it will flash and beep three times. Make another attempt with the above steps.
