The road trip- jumping in the car, filling the tank, hitting the songs and hitting the open road. It is an American tradition - skirt on the road, looking for the adventure (and whatever comes in your way). Maybe you are ready for a good trip, but you do not know where to go. We compiled a list of 10 of the most beautiful and scenic units in the United States. Let's take it from Hawaii to Alaska and many places between. Each trip presents landscapes of some of the most visually breathtaking areas of the country, so do not forget to bring your camera. Let's hit the road! In the "Grand Island" of Hawaii, three state routes - 11, 19 and 190 - form a circle around the perimeter. The locals call "Havaan belt". Driving around the Hawaiian belt, you will see lava deserts, lush jungles, agricultural lands, active lava flows, snow white beaches, mountains and valleys. The great island receives its name from the fact that it is larger than all other Hawaiian islands combined. The complete route around the island is about 300 miles (483 kilometers) in length. Most people who do this unit will split the journey for several days in order to enjoy the scenarios and local attractions. Experts suggest that you begin your trip in Kailua-Kona, a city surrounded by hardened lava flows. You will also find the famous café in this region. When wrapping your way through the big island, you will rise up to 3,000 feet (914 meters) in elevation and dip in charming valleys. You will discover dozens of cities and parks - do not forget to stop and enjoy the local colors and flavors. Driving on the outdoor highway for the flourish keys is a single experiment. This road is a sane of roads and bridges of 113 kilometers (181 kilometers), from the continental flouride to the southern extreme of our country - Key West. The bridges, currently open to the traffic vehicles, are achievements in engineering. They are the survivors of the east coast of the Florida Henry Florida, are intended to connect the keys to the continent. The construction began in 1905 and ended in 1912. However, the Flagler railroad project unfortunately was short duration. A 1935 hurricane destroyed - more than 30 kilometers of track. Restoration took years. In the process, the workers converted the rails to highways. The knight's key bridge - now called the seven-mile bridge for the almost 7 miles (11.2 kilometers) of the water that spreads - is to take the fondle to cross. As you drive from Key Wide to Key West, you can still see remnants of the ancient rail bridges. Some of them end up abruptly in the middle of the channel, a ghostly reminder of the flagler railroad dreams. The finger lakes are a chain of lakes in the central state of New York - in shape, no surprise, like the fingers. Chain is composed of 11 lakes: Canandaigua, Keuka, Seneca, Cayuga, Skanateles, Owasco, Otisco, Honeoye, Canadade, Hemlock and Conesus. Formed by Glaciers, Lakes extend from a long line of approximately 75 mile (120 kilan 'Meters), from Syracuse to Rochester. Lakeshores are dotted with buic agricultural lands, picturesque towns and hundreds of vinecols. The unit is adornable to any time of the year, but we recommend an autumn trip to take advantage of the stunning foliage. The region covers about 9,000 square miles (23.309 square kilometers), then most people choose a lake or specific cities on which to focus. Travel enthusiasts recommend making a loop beginning and ending in Ithaca. This loop is about 175 miles (280 kilometers) in length. Give yourself a couple of days to make this trip. Along the way, you will find beautiful seafront houses, farms and wine tastings. The area also features many natural gorges with waterfalls in cascade - a great idea for a one-day walk. This route from It is one of the world's most scenic. Embracing cliffs and coastals, the Pacific Coast Highway (PCH) follows a large part of the California coast. However, only an elongation of 123 miles (198 kilometers) is the official PCH, as designated by the state of California. Lady called Highway 1, it takes about five five to drive the PCH. The highway goes most of the traffic in July and August. Avoid these times if you want to have a leisure unit. In the winter stations, drivers should be aware of the danger of landslides too. Always check the local warnings before embarking on your journey. The road often takes closed curves with narrow shoulders and slopes in that, so you should be alert at all times. Do not forget to pull more in safe places to really enjoy the view. You drive along the PCH, the time make for stops. You will go through Big Sur, with your majestic sequins. In Monterey Bay, lucky visitors will receive a peek at the sea otters play in the water. PCH also snakes through wine paas including Sonoma county.going-to-the-sun road is a 52-mile road (84 kilometers) that cuts Glacier National Park in Montana.
