Also Read: Free Zbigz Premium Account -January 2016 [No Survey] WEP is an outdated, weak protocol used to secure WiFi and it is no more preferred because it can be hacked within seconds. However, due to lack of awareness, it is still used across the world. Below instructions explain how you can use your android device to hack a WEP protected WiFi network. bcmom app is used here also. So download and install it as told above Tap "Run bcmom terminal". This will launch a terminal similar to most Linux terminals. Type airodump-ng and tap the Enter button. In the newly opened window type airodump-ng wlan0 and tap the Enter button. Open reaver and note down the WiFi (Access point) name, Mac Address and the broadcasting channel of the WiFi which you want to hack. Make sure it is WEP. Now we can start scanning the target WiFi and collect packets. Type the following airodump-ng -c channel# -bssid MAC address -w outfile ath0 Note: channel# = broadcasting channel, MAC address = Mac Address of the router which you already noted down. -w is for specifying the output file name. I have given the name as outfile in the example. So the complete command looks similar to this. airodump-ng -c 9 -bssid 00:14:6C:7E:40:80 -w outfile ath0 Continue scanning until it collects 20,000-30,000 packets. Once enough packets are collected return to the terminal and type aircrack-ng outfile.cap and tap Enter. Aircrack program will attempt to crack the WiFi password from the extracted packets. It might take hours to crack. Finally a message Key Found! will appear, followed by the key in a hexadecimal form. Key will work only if Probability" is 100%. Remove "-" from the key. i.e if it is 19:04:56:77:94, the key would be 1904567794 There are many other methods to hack WiFi using Android. Stay tuned for more tricks. Credits: XDA
