A DISCUSSION OF THIS EDITION IS PROVIDED ON PP. 80 of the introduction, and that of theotokis text, and the reasons its ordering is not to be preferred, on pp. He begins his introduction with a notable defense of the doctrine of man's deification. Juan Pedro Monferrero-Sala, Gorgias Press, 2007, pp. 54, n. 1238& c "1311) that are taken from the writings of San Isaac. Note: 1. First printed edition. Examining the ancient Greek manuscripts, I did not only resolve some of the textual darkness in the theotokis text, it also revealed a radically different order, which resulted in the order of homilites in Siriac. This is by far the most complete work, or more exhaustive in San Isaac made to date, recapitulating academic work in San Isaac already done, and adding a lot to him, especially with information about the editions of their homili in Western Europe. Please hold us if we are wrong with respect to any of the discharges offered. Volume I am the Siriac text with the long and valuable introduction of Budge (in English) and volume II is the translation into English of the Syriac text. In John Saba or Dalyatha the thesis of Dr. Brian Colless about John Saba or Dalyatha, author of what are Homilies 15, 16, 17 and 31 in our edition. It presents fascinat information about the relations between the Greek Orthodox Church and the Eastern Church, explains some of the complications with the MSS, and speaks of the history of the translation of ascetic homilites in Greek and other languages. Available here among other places. Syr. Leipzig in Saxony, Breitkopf Printing House, 1770. The first homilias páginas; The title says: The ascal homilias of our father among the saints Abba Isaac el Siro, the ascetic and anchoring, in some bishop moment of the love of the love of Nineveh. Written by him in his own tongue and translated by our righteous Fathers Abba Patrick and Abba Abramius, philosophers and hesychasts, who practised stillness in the Lavra of our Father among the Saints Sabbas. This same Homily is placed first in all editions we know of, including our own (see Appendix D, the Table of Homily Equivalences).
